ACTIVITIES/BAND

music promotes spirit and pride

The modern dance pulsations which echo on campus during football games and assemblies vibrate from a group of hard working musicians-The Dance Band. The Dance Band, working closely with the Madera High School Marching Band, provide entertainment during sports events, assemblies, railies and occasionally dances. Many of The Dance Band instrumentalists are kept busy performing in both the Marching and Dance Bands. These students beat their drums and blow their horns in victory and defeat at every game, helping to stir pride and spirit Long hours of practice create the sounds of vitality which cause the Student Body to sit in depths of disappointment when the band is absent

a capella offers contemporary music

Madera High School's A Capella Choir provides vocal music for many community churches and social organizations. They also perform at elementary school Christmas programs. The Choir usually presents contemporary and religious musical selections accompanied on the piano by Janie Yakligian and Joan Lewis with drum accompaniment by Danny Gallegos Mrs. Worthington directs the lyrical group, and as a means of constant improvement, holds sectional rehearsels every lunch period to aid individual section harmony. Each semester, a talent day is reserved for the purpose of allowing averyone in the group an opportunity to participate in a program.

Blue & white staff molds new book

The 1974 BLUE & WHITE staff began the school year in the hopes of creating a decidedly different yearbook. Their main objective was to create an annual that would accurately reflect the events that occurred at Madera High School for one school year. To this extent, they decided to minimize posed club pictures, especially those organizations that were semi-active or not directly affiliated with the school.

Color was planned with great care in the Activities Section in an attempt to match the consummate beauty of this year's cover which was taken through the 200 inch Hale Observatory telescope

Noteworthy this year was the fact that the Annual Staff was completely composed of newcomers, with the exception of Karen Dal Bianco

Clever costumes, stylish routines, and bouncy personalities united to create a vivacious year for the Madera High School Pep Girls. Dipping and whirting, the Pep Girls enchanted their viewers. Their spirited attitudes helped increase student involvement in athletics. Chanza Faso guided Sheila Gokey, Susan Gugliamana, Carey Kirk Debbie Lowry, Becki Netherton, Jodi Salazar, Therese Tucker, and Vicki Tyler to new heights of excellence in performance Zealously, the Pep Girls tore down the walls of apathy with their earnest smiling faces and inspirational movements.

Beth Boysen, Karen Pavey, and Elaine LaMestina comprised the 1973-74 Varsity Cheerleading positions. The trio captivated and led spectators to a "sky High" feeling of enthusiasm. During their season of spirit boosting, the Cheerleaders represented Madera High School with a constant smile and swirl of a leaping skirt. The Cheerleaders directed the 1973-74 White Section to a record degree of participation despite the discouraging football season.

The Junior Varsity teams were also well represented this year, with Kathy Croom leading Norma Erickson, Michele Lasgoity Cheryl Townsend and all underclassmen to a year of ardent cheering

ffa continues to expand and change

The Madera chapter of the Future Farmers of America has outstanding records of accomplishments. The organization continues to dominate the wide variety of agricultural judging contests held in the valley. The FFA club is one of oldest and largest groups on campus. Madera High School's FFA members once were all males, but today many females have been admitted, including Beth Boysen who became the first female. FFA President in history. Each year, Greenhand members effiliate themselves to FFA, ensuring that the productive organization continues to expand.

The 1973 Block M Week set a new trend in the selection of a Homecoming Queen Tradition was shoved in the closet and new transformations altered the old order. For the first time in years Block M allowed the Student Body to aid in the choosing of a queen. After nominating twelve semi-finalist girls, Block M held a student vote to narrow the chosen down to five finalists. From these five, Block M members picked the Queen. Despite the radical Queen revision, Block M Week followed the established pattern for the weeks' activities. maderan editorials streaked with courage

The 1973-74 MADERAN Staff woven with satire from veteran writers, teamed with the new freshness of novice reporters, to produce a year of journalistic performances worthy of distinction. Editorial commentary, under the triple leadership of Kathy Croom, Barbara Anderson and Elaine Pyle displayed a bold streak of courage in its controversial exploits. Page editors, photographers reporters, and advertising personnel—Diana Bishop, Beth Boysen, Doug Clute, Gail Davis, Bruce Deaver, Theresa Gonzales, Lynnette Griffin, Matt. Huarte, Janice Lynn Richard Janushan, Elvia Ruiz, Dawn Schwenk, Lorette Steele Louise VanderLean, and Sendra Yepiz—captured reader a attention and interest throughout the year with a wide variety of outstanding feature reporting.

The addition of several excellent beginning journalism writers at the semester, continued to improve the MADERAN'S style, making the newspaper attain new heights of distinguishment.

The 1973 74 Student Council members approached their executive positions with vitality and an ambition of creating a strong effective student government. Fall semester Student Council, presided over by President Jeff Dal Cerro, worked closely with Student Senate in the passage of a revised Over-Affection Policy The student leaders battled the litter problem in order to save the nutrition break and prevent a closed campus. Spring semester Student Council was under the leadership of President John Rigby and despite spring fever, the officers aided Student Senate in the acceptance of an Assembly Board Bill. The officers also worked to provide school. organizations with needed funds. Both fall and spring council members labored to get the entire Student Body involved in Madera High School, and students responses proved that their efforts had eliminated campus apathy

ATOMS is a club designed to provide college preparatory Seniors with experience in the educational field Each year Seniors participate in the elementary school visitation program. The visitation system permits high school students with an opportunity to view teaching from an inside standpoint. Seniors are allowed to observe and teach actual classes of students. This pre-teaching exposure aids the college prep student to decide if they wish to become a teacher. Prospective ATOMS members received training as guides for visiting eighth grade students, helping the students around campus in a preview of the high school. students apply knowledge to earning wages

Increased emphasis upon the vocational aspects of education has swelled Madera High School's Work Experience Program from a handfull of participants into over one hundred enrollees within the last few years. Students working under the Work Experience system receive not only practical job instruction but are paid wages as they learn. Employers not only pay their young employees but grade the students on the quality of their work, attitude and appearance. Job training and application of information gained in school combine to give the Work Experience student a solid background for future job performance. This working preparation and the encouragement obtained from earnigh money, also help to inspire an interest in school. The Work Experience office continually strives to place students in job situations which will add to their knowledge acquired in school.

The traditional musical play usually performed each spring under the direction of the music department was abandoned this year with a variety musical show appearing in its place. Several factors caused the change of production such as--few musicals had large cast roles performance variety was limited to the script, and good scripts were hard to obtain. This year simusical revue drew auditions from large numbers of students and the variety acts ranged from rock n-roll vocalists to a Charlie Chaplin dance routine. hardworking varsity gridders have disappointing season

In spite of the hardwork put in by Madera's Varsity Football team, the 1973-74 season closed without a win. Although the Coyotes lacked considerable experience, the team demonstrated streaks of brilliance on both Offensive and Defensive squads. Outstanding Individual play was also exhibited throughout the year.

Having more than 50% of the players on this year's team who have never experienced the thrill of victory is very frustating and depressing for a young team to face. In the past Madera Football has built up a losing tradition, but with the highly qualified coaching staff of Madera and the feeder program which is beginning to pay off, as can be seen from our Junior Varsity and Freshman squads, Madera will build their depth, strength, and confidence to become a winning football team once again.

The Most Valuable Player award went to Tony Crump, the Team Captains were Mike Madole and David Rivera

Junior Varsity puts it altogether

Breaking last year's winless season, the 1973-74 Junior Varsity football team displayed elated high team spirit and the desire to win, beating six out of the ten teams they played to finish third in NYL behind Fresno and Edison, who field for 2nd and the 1st place Clovis Cougars

After a slow start with Merced in a practice match, losing 8-18. Madera won an impressive game against Chowchilla, shutting out the Redskins 30-0 and beating the Washington Parithers 28-14. Hit by a double loss to the tough Tigers and Clovis squads, the Coyotes came back with a hard fought 11-7 victory over the Bullard Knights. Dropping one more game, Madera beat the last three teams straight, playing their most satisfying game of the year with the Coyotes defeating the Hoover Patriots 28-14.

Not only did this year's squad outdo last year's team, but also proved to be the best Junior Varsity since 1965 ever to play for Madera High School

Returning next year with a great coaching staff and team members that know how to win. Madera football has a bright future

freshmen exhibit outstanding teamwork

The individuals responsible for the freshman football team showed themselves quite respectable fees while compiling a 5-1-1 record for the 1973-74 season. The team, directed by coaches Pisk and Brink, played well, losing only to undefeated Dos Palos. Good teamwork proved to be an essential, factor in the success of this year's squad champion cross-country teams overwhelm valley competition

The 1973 Cross-Country team went all the way to produce the finest season in Madera High's history as all four teams were rated Number One in the Valley Championships. This year's varsity proved beyond doubt that they were number one in the San Joaquin Valley, defeating all the Bakersfield teams especially top ranked Redwood High School. Coach DeWitt rates his team among the best in the state. The varsity suffered only one loss during the season to the Hoover Patriots.

Eight members of the Varsity squad made the All NYL League team. They were Lawrence Carranza, who won the Most Valuable Performer Award, Paul Keel, captain, Ray Rubio, Most Outstanding Art Villareal Most Consistent. Frank Frausto, Numero Uno Award, Jose Renteria, Most Valuable Sophomore: Elias Cazares, Most Dependable, Jesse Martinez Most Improved

On the undefeated Junior Varsity Valley Championship Team David Garza was voted the Most Valuable Player and Robby Espana was voted Team Captain. In the Frosh Sophic ass Jose Renteria and John Armendariz were elected co-captains and the Frosh Captain was William Zamora Seventeen of the top twenty harriers are underclassmen who will be returning next year.

The Team's overall record for the year was 31 wins and 1 oss with 20 major championship victories to enhance their record.

first year water polo teams perform well

As a new addition to Madera High School athletics the 1973 Water Polo team did well for its first year of interscholastic competition. Starting off slowly at the beginning of the year Madera came back to dominate the last half of league play, losing only once to Valley Champs, Clovis High The Coyote varsity fired for a fourth place in the NYL, while Madera's strong Junior Varsity finished third in the league.

Varsity awards were given to Joe Davis, Most Valuable, Ruben Rodriquez, Most Improved Player, and Carey Dutcher, Team Captain. On the Junior Varsity Rick Treatch received Most Valuable and the Most Improved Award went to David Boyd

Madera can expect to see a good, strong Water Polo squad next year, with six returning Varsity Letterman along with this year's strong J V ambers to fill vacant varsity slots. Compared to the Fresno schools. Madera is considerable behind in training its talent but with the skillful coaching of Scott Holmes and the addition of a feeder program starting this summer. Madera should enjoy many successful seasons to come

grapplers take second in league competition

It's going to take a lot to break a championship tradition like the Madera High Wrestling team has built. Even though Clovis has a relatively young team, they have a little more experience than this year's Coyote team. Madera grappiers also have a young team and will hustle to bring back the grown which is rightfully ours.

Our wresters lost two practice matches to Washington High and Hughson High to spark Madera grapplers to work harder and tougher Madera won all six league matches but had to take a back seat to Clovis who went undefeated in league play and were the eventual state champs Even though this year wasn't Madera's peak, we did very well. One bright spot in the season was the NYL-SYL tourney in which Madera want undefeated

Congratulations must go to Robert Kiddy and Art Villareal for making it to the state tournament this year and to the continuing fine efforts of Coach Al Kiddy

"hope" invades BasketBall season

Basketball is on its way up at Madera High School and the 1974 Varsity Basketball team has certainly made a fine foundation. Even though the Coyotes suffered eight losses. Madera was considered a threat to every team in the league, including NYL champs Edison Prior to league competition, Madera competed in the Holiday Tourney, getting through the first round defeating Sierra High 56-39. Madera really put the pressure on during the semi-final match with Edison, playing an excellent ball game. As time ran out Madera showed a score of 26 and Edison 33.

J.v.'s have super season

The Junior Varsity basketball team finished its best season in many years. "Its been the most enjoyable team I velever coached, stated Coach Lee Ladding of his team. The Coyote Pups were so competitive and tough in practice, they played many excellent games."

Highlighting the season was the Madera-Edison match. They played their best game defeating the eventual NYL champs in overtime by four points. Another exciting game was the one against Hoover on our home court. Madera fell behind early in the first half 4-33. Beginning the second half Madera made a miraculous comeback to win in another overtime.

Madera maintained team loyalty and according to Coach Ladding, "The people who sat on the bench made the first string better because of their highly competitive attitudes."

new sport enlivens schedule

Soccer is one of the fastest growing sports in the world and has now been established as a part of Madera High's athletic program. This new athletic event offers any young man the opportunity to play soccer competitively.

The team, consisting of eleven players, hustled well in practice and in competition under the watchful eye of Coach John Eisele

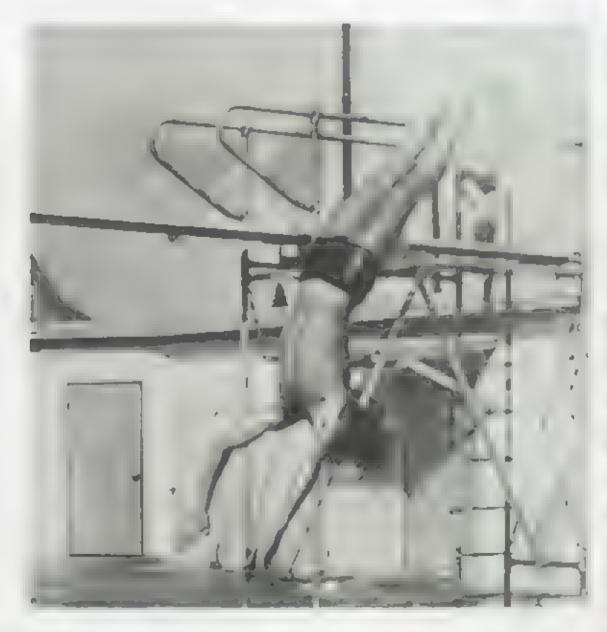

Drawing upon an already established feeder program, the Fresho teams were much advanced in their offensive techniques and put the Coyote squad on the defensive much of the time. Although Madera finished with only one victory defeating Clovis 2-0 — there were two deadlocks and four close losses by not more than a four point margin for any single loss. Certainly the best games were played against Clovis. Hoover and Fresho High weak hitting plagues coyote nine

Lead by strong-armed hurlers Brian Clark and Oscar Olguin, the Coyote baseball squad began another spring in the hopes of improving on last year's 6-16 record. Hoping for hitting miracles from Steve Potter and Domingo Valdez, the Coyotes faltered slightly in early league play, going to a record of 2-3. This year Bullard and Clovis are favored to win the NYL crown, but a good year for the Coyote squad could go a long way in spoiling the Fresno's schools' chances for repeating for another year.

pre-algebra class dropped

The only change in the Math Department this year was the dropping of the Pre-algebra class and the creation of a two-year Algebra I sequence in its place. Many math students received new books this year which was the extent of equipment received by the department

Many teachers taught different classes than they had previously taught so students were met with new faces in different areas.

The Math department is constantly striving to maintain a more advanced and modern way of presenting math to the students. This year proved to move the department one step closer lowerd its ultimate goal

semester classes broaden english curriculum

The English Department underwent a much needed change by having a new curriculum in which sophomores juniors, and seniors may choose which class they want to fill their requirement. The reading program was also expanded to include sophomore and senior classes. Mrs Madelyn Jones was the only new teacher added to the department

Even though the department received no new facilities or equipment, the teachers expanded their use of the video tape machine by showing movies that had been seen on television. A new dimension was added to the English department when the independent study classes took field trips to the Fresno and Madera libraries. Influencing many other English classes to do the same

Both students and teachers reacted to the tremendous change similarly. The teachers felt that the new program enabled them to present new ideas and new and better books to the students who responded with ideas to be pondered.

music department gains new band director

The Music Department again filled the school with much enthusiastic spirit throughout their performances Mrs. Worthington, who was absent during the first of the year due to a broken leg chairmanned the department A new member added to the staff was band director Mr Steiting.

Mrs. Worthington kept spirits high throughout the Christmas season when she involved the A Cappella choir in many performances. They also performed at such special events as Open House. Mr Stelling added his creativity to the marching band half-time shows when new routines were added to their repertoire. The band also performed in parades, assemblies, and basketball games throughout the year.

new chairman for art department named

The Art Department gained a new chairman this year when Mrs. Huckobey left to teach at Clovis. The new chairman. Mr. Boomer, was quite enthusiastic with high hopes of having his Advanced Ceramics Classes actually building a gas kin. The department also considered taking field trips to art museums to add a new dimension to art classes.

The department also gained another teacher in Miss Hoggan who added her abilities to the staff Miss Hoggan, also teaching in the business department, taught three classes of Crafts and Art I

New classes added to the curriculum include Costume Design and Interior Decorating The students responded with interest to these classes

new microscopes update science department

This year in the Science Department the main event was the arrival of seven new microscopes for use in the biology classes. Another welcomed addition included a new ecology course to take the place of one semester of sophomore biology. New teachers added to the department were Miss Kathy Devereaux, a chemistry teacher and Mr. Dave Tinkle, who substituted for Mr. Mastin during his illness.

Projects in the Science Department included such annual class assignments as insect and wildflower collection. Other projects included field trips to various places of interest by sophomore biology classes.

The teaching staff tried a new approach in the biology classes which was greeted with approval by students and teachers. It consisted of more student activities throughout the entire course.

foreign language department adds culture to m.h.s.

The Foreign Language Department remained primarily the same this year, although advanced students were allowed to do some independent work this year.

No new teachers were added to the staff this year A new course added to the curriculum was Italian II. This course was created to allow students that took Italian I last year to continue their studies in the language Mr. Edward Pia taught these classes.

The department continued its use of the language lab, both as classes and individually it is the department's goal to add culture to the environment at Madera High. Through the language clubs and their activities, the department progressed just a little further toward its goal social science requirements reduced for graduation

The Social Science department both lost and gained in their curriculum this year Although the U.S. History and Civics requirements were cut to one semester, other semester classes were added to round out the curriculum. These classes included such subjects as Psychology, Sociology, California History and International Relations.

Mr Ron Pisk joined the teaching staff along with Mr Gary Mulliner who returned from a two year trip to New Zealand. In the area of new facilities, the department gained a new slide projector and a new ditto machine.

Another new dimension was added this year when several speakers came to classes. With this and other new approaches by the Social Science teaching staff students were quite pleased in the usually boring history or civics classes.

industrial arts department gains new equipment

The big event in the Industrial Arts department this year was the addition of new equipment. Included in this equipment was a new planer. The department neither gained or lost any teachers, so students remained familiar with the teaching techniques in the department.

Students continued to construct many useful items in such classes as Wood Shop. During the Christmas season this year, some of the students sold jewelry boxes they had made to be given as gifts.

The Industrial Arts teaching staff has set a goal to teach useful techniques to their students and this year they met that goal

new food services laboratory in home economics department

A change from teaching "Useful" home economics to teaching both "Useful" and "Gainful" home economics was evident in the curriculum this year when more emphasis was put on vocational education offerings. The department also gained a new food services laboratory which proved useful as a restaurant for the faculty

The teaching staff, who acquired two new teachers. Lenora Kor and Virginia Fisher, were very excited about new classes as were the students who proved it by enlarging the enrollment, especially in the boys' foods classes.

two teachers added to agriculture department

This year the Agriculture Department students were met with new faces in different places as every teacher worked in a new area. There were only two new teachers added to the department this year.—Mr. Tom Greci and Mr. Joe Camerillo.

The only change in curriculum was in the Ornamental Horticulture class which was divided into Advanced and Beginning classes, each a ful year long. Both students and teachers accepted the change with enthusiasm.

Projects planned by the department were mostly FFA functions such as fairs, shows, and judging teams

As in the past the Agriculture department has continued to expand as more students take part in projects and as new methods are developed.

Boys' p.e. gets new showers

The Physical Education Department which is constantly changing to keep in step with modern ways continued its trend towards more recreational activities with carry-over values for later life.

Along with gaining new department chairman, Mr Jim Morgan, the boy's department gained new showers and new offices for the coaches. Also added were new team handball courts in addition to the usual replacement of equipment each year

New teachers gained by the department include Mr. Ron Pisk, who is also teaching in the Social Science department and Mr Jim Morgan who also served as Varsity basketball coach

learning coordinator system enters administration

A drastic change took place in the administration of Madera High this year. The old-fashioned 'Dean of Boys and 'Dean of Girls' were replaced with four learning coordinators. Each learning coordinator is responsible for the attendance and discipline of one class which they will remain with all four years the class is in school. This enables the administration to communicate better with the students. Each learning coordinator is also in charge of curriculum and teacher evaluation in certain departments. In addition to these duties each coordinator shares responsibilities in co-curricular activities.

Because of this change many new faces were seen in our administration. Mr. Barry Crow joined our staff after teaching at Clovis High for four years and Mr. Garaid Johnson and Mr. Joe Vivid left their teaching positions in the Social Science department to become learning coordinators. The only coordinator that was involved in administrative work before is Mr. Jim Harper

The new administration has shown that it does improve communication between the administration, teachers, and students. Madera High has become a place of better education.
